COMMUNICATION — There are times when a father and his son just have to get away from everything for a quiet conversation. Near sunset following a beach picnic is a perfect time for complete communication, and Carmel artist Richard Robertson and his son Scott, carry on a strictly private conversation on the beach opposite Bay School following a picnic at which the families of students at the school became acquainted with each other. See story below.

Bay School Families Picnic And Communicate; Inspect Unique School's Facilities

Whole families from the Carmel Parent Nursery School went picnicking together this past week.

Some 18 pre-schoolers who are enrolled at the Little Red Schoolhouse south of Point Lobos invited their mothers, fathers and brothers and sisters to have supper, games and fun at the beach near the school.

A grandmother and a great-grandmother even joined in.

Bea Hill of Carmel, who visits the school one day each week, brought along her guitar and played some of the songs the children will be hearing and singing during the coming year.

Mrs. Ephraim Doner says the picnic has become a traditional way of acquainting families at the beginning of the school year. It is the start of a program of cooperating parents who, in addition to creating a pre-school experience for their children, also examine their child rearing problems and worries together.

At the picnic the fathers were also introduced to the school grounds and saw the materials especially developed to advance the motor, sensory and intellectual growth of the children. Many youngsters took great pride showing their visitors the sheep, bunnies and chickens they help care for.

"By caring for the animals the children get a chance to

Cultural Commission Looks At Library Move To Sunset

At last Monday night's meeting of the Carmel Cultural Commission, the Commission held the view that the location of a library on the Sunset Center property was compatible with City intentions for that site and that it would welcome submission of further information from the City's library board for appropriate study and consideration.

Six of the seven Commissioners approved this phrasing of the Commission's view, and one, Mrs. Dorothy Green Chapman, abstained when the vote was taken. (Mrs. Chapman had earlier expressed the view that "the present library" was a treasure the City should cherish.)

While there were various exceptions taken to the preliminary wording suggested to express the Commission's stand with regard to possible transfer of City library activities to Sunset Center, before the final wording found

Commission acceptance, there seemed to be hardly any hesitancy at all about trying to revive the possibly waning interest of an out-of-towner in setting up a purely commercial activity — a restaurant — at Sunset Center.

After hearing from City Administrator Hugh Bayless that he had been unable to contact the out-of-town restaurateur (Tom King of Capitola) and had therefore assumed that the restaurateur was no longer interested in setting up a restaurant at Sunset, and then hearing from outgoing Sunset Manager Cole Weston that King seemed still to be interested, Commission members seemed nearly single-minded in their desire to activate the King Sunset Center restaurant application.

Part of the City's library activities are already a long-established use at Sunset, and therefore all that would be involved if more, or all, of such activities were to be moved there, would simply be expansion of an already recognized use.

Reference to the recently accepted resignation of Sunset Manager Cole Weston, after his request for a six-month leave-of-absence had been denied, brought the comment from Commissioner Ashton Stanley that Weston might not have been ready to return to City service on the expiration date of such a leave. Commission Chairman Mrs. Patricia Faul terminated further comment on the leave-or-resignation matter because it had been acted upon at a closed-door meeting of the Commission.

In another matter, the Commission expressed its approval of a request by Weston to store his photographic equipment in an unused dark-room area at Sunset, during his planned foreign travel.

Also the Chamber Music Society was given permission to use just the stage portion of the Sunset auditorium for five concerts during the 1969-70 season. Both performers and listeners will be seated on the stage for the performances. The first concert will take place Oct. 1, which is also the date for scheduled gala re-opening of the refurbished Sunset auditorium. This gala opening is an invitation-only event.

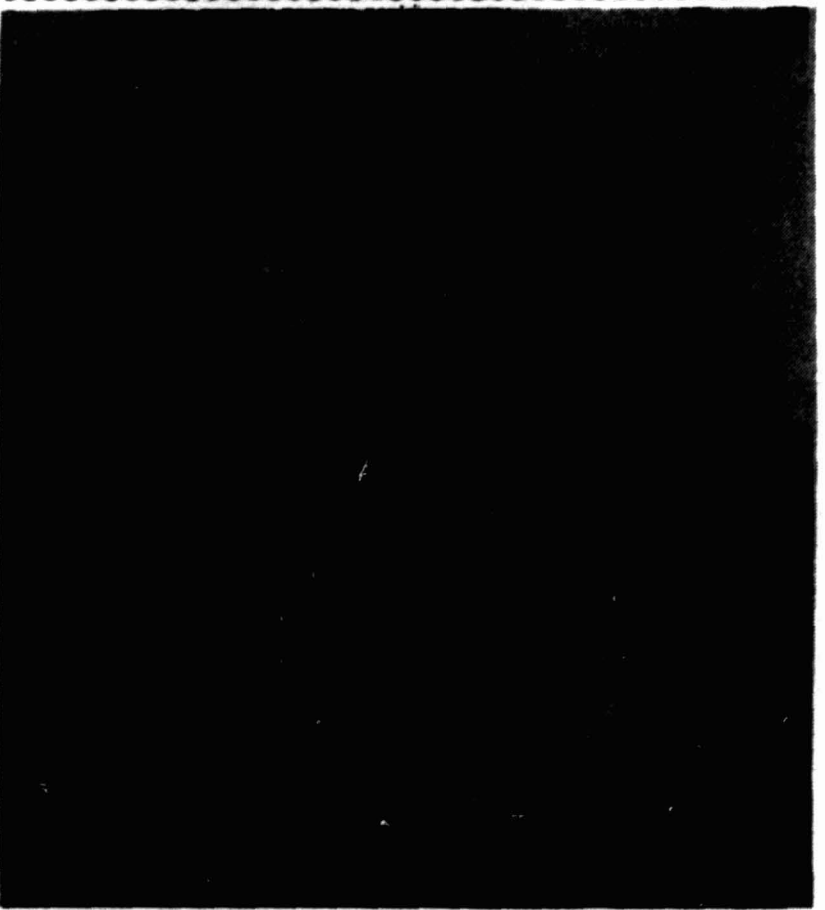

GUNNAR NORBERG

MAN WITH HORN — This unusual shot of one of the West Coast's most popular trumpet men, Bobby Bryant, captures the feeling of improvisation that marks the medium. Bryant, who plays first trumpet with the NBC orchestra in Los Angeles, is a popular recording star and one of the most in-demand musicians in the area. His appearance at the Jazz Festival last weekend was greeted with enormous enthusiasm.

CROWDED ARENA — Normally the showplace for jumpers, hunters and working horses, the outdoor arena of the Monterey Fair Grounds was last week the scene of a crowd of jazz buffs who thronged through the gates to hear the top musicians in the jazz world.

Slides At Carmel Foundation Wed.

The Carmel Foundation will offer an unusual showing of stereopticon slides on Wednesday, October 1, at 2:30 at the Town House, Lincoln near 8th.

Fremont Ballou will show the collection of slides, taken in the 1890's, of the Havasupai Indians in their Grand Canyon home, one of the most isolated of the reservations.

Ballou said, "They live in a side canyon about 3,000 feet below the rim. These slides are unusual because the tribe was truly primitive then."

Ballou originally came here from Stanford in 1923 to take a summer English course at Hopkins Marine Station.

The public is invited to the program and to the tea which will follow.

Sam & Edie Karas Hit In 'Don't Drink The Water'

Sam and Edie Karas just have to be the funniest acting team in all of Northern California.

They're proving it over and over in the Studio Theater-Restaurant's production of Woody Allen's laugh riot "Don't Drink the Water."

They play Mr. and Mrs. Hollander, done on the stage by Lou Jacobi and Kay Medford, and nothing is lost in the transition to Carmel.

"Don't Drink the Water" is just the type of thing you'd expect Woody Allen to write — that is if you've ever seen or heard Allen. He was an actor on the stage and television and writer for the TV medium. He turned to writing this vehicle for the stage as a challenge.

The Hollanders, with their daughter Susan, played by newcomer Diane Higgins (and mighty prettily, too, I may say), are mistaken for spies in a country behind the Iron Curtain, and take refuge in the American Embassy, where a priest (Clifford Anderson as Father Drobney) is already hiding (for the past six years), and which is being run, with amazing and hilarious ineptitude, by the ambassador's son (Walter Pezet).

Kilroy (Peter Hanson) is the poker-faced embassy clerk, Dennis Weaver is funny as the chef and Paul M. Boczowski, also a newcomer to the local stage, is a sinister Krojack of the secret police.

Ed Shibrot is, as usual, outstanding, handling a dual role as the American Ambassador and the Sultan of Bashir with aplomb and polish as befits an excellent actor. Dave Christopher as Kasnar rounds out the cast, and they all try to get the Hollanders out of the Embassy and back to the States, or try to prevent their going.

The comedy is great, the acting of Sam and Edie Karas unequaled by anything seen on the Studio stage in a long, long time.

"Don't Drink the Water" plays weekends at the Studio, with the curtain at 8:30 except on Sunday, when it's an hour earlier.

'Owl & Pussycat' Laughs Shake Circle Theater

You take a comedy written by Bill Manhoff, add brilliant direction by Roy Baxter and a cast of two that enjoys every minute of being on-stage, mix well and you have a fantastically funny thing called "The Owl and the Pussycat" which opened Friday at the Circle.

I didn't find Manhoff's lines actually funny, but the way he puts them together for his actors, and the way the lines fit the plot make the comedy an outstanding one and it's easy to see why it ran 421 performances on Broadway.

Much of the credit for the hilarity that shakes the Circle Theater must go to Roy Baxter for his great direction. He is fully familiar with the extremely close intimacy of his small theater, and he uses every inch of his stage to the utmost advantage.

He starts the comedy off at a high gallop, and the pace gets swifter and swifter and charges along until the final blackout, an extremely neat trick and certainly the hallmark of a top director.

There are only two character in the play — Paul Elliott, who as F. Sherman is the complete intellectual, and Joyce Malikoff as Doris, the eternal prostitute with the heart of gold, and about as hard.

Elliott seems to start slowly in the Community Theater of the Monterey Peninsula production, putting forth some rather stereotyped responses to Doris' machinations, but he picks up confidence as the play progresses, especially toward the end of the second act, and through the last act he is the master of himself and reacts to stimuli as the part demands.

Joyce Malikoff is completely delightful as Doris. She sounds, at times, exactly like a Portuguese fish-wife, only more vulgar, which is exactly how the part was written. She is in command of her part from the first time she steps on the stage, and she has made the part fit her like a glove.

This is a thoroughly successful production, and you're going to need reservations. Call 624-2669 for same. crb

Mail For Bob Wood Should Go To Sacramento Office

Assemblyman Bob Wood (R-Greenfield) requested today that all correspondence directed to his attention please be sent to his Sacramento office.

Wood said that several people had expressed confusion as to whether to write to the Sacramento or Salinas office or to his Greenfield home.

A more prompt reply will result if all mail is sent to the Sacramento State Capitol office directly.

Assemblyman Wood is extremely interested in expediting all correspondence and has expressed the hope that by mail going directly to Sacramento it can be so handled.

"My Sacramento Office will always know where I am and where I am going to be," Wood said, "it is best to send the mail directly to the State Capitol Building."

The State Capitol mailing address in Sacramento is:

GAY THRONG — Fiesta time is a happy time, and fiesta time comes to Carmel on Sunday, Sep. 28 at the Carmel Mission. This is part of the crowd that enjoyed last year's feast day of San Carlos de Borromeo, patron Saint of the Basilica. The affair begins at 11 a.m. and will include something for everyone, including food and music.

Mariachi, Modern Music Set For Mission Fiesta

It's Fiesta time on Sunday, Sep. 28 at the Carmel Mission.

The annual community event celebrates the feast day of San Carlos de Borromeo, patron Saint of the Basilica. Celebrations will begin at the 11 o'clock mass followed by a procession into the courtyard.

Always colorful and gala, this year's fiesta includes entertainment by Manuel Campos and his strolling mariachi band and the professional dance team of Pat Blanchard and Joyce Kephart. Panchito Mendoza will perform in the Spanish tradition. For the teenagers, a contemporary flavor is added. The "87th Off Broadway Jam Sound" will provide music for a teenage dance to be held in Crespi Hall during the afternoon.

Father George McMenamin, pastor, and Phillip Coniglio and John Calcagno co-chairmen, have had overwhelming response and interest from the fiesta committee.

Maybe it is Bi-Centennial fever but the games, booths, and continual entertainment have been well planned. A chicken barbeque, home-made pastries, and other refreshments will be available. And what would a fiesta be without "Poncho" the pet burro?

Six years ago the fiesta was revived with great success. It is based on the early history of Father Junipero Serra's old mission. Traditionally the fiesta commemorates the feast day of San Carlos de Borromeo, patron saint of the Basilica.

So don a sombrero and bring the entire family this Sunday to La Fiesta at the Carmel Mission.

Vaya con Dios!

Refund Deadline

The deadline for filing claims for 1969 Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance is less than one month away. To date, fewer than 60,000 California senior citizens have filed claims.

The deadline is October 15 for senior citizens to file claim forms for a portion of their 1968-69 property taxes.

To be eligible for Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance, claimants must be over 65 years of age as of Jan. 1, 1969; must own and occupy their own home; must have paid the property taxes on the home; and must have a total household income of less than $3,350. Qualified individuals can obtain claim forms from any office of the Franchise Tax Board or by writing to Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance, P.O. Box 1588, Sacramento, California 95807.

Sullivan Will Speak On Asia

A large crowd is expected for the address "Emphasis on Asia" to be given by the Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for East Asian and Pacific Affairs this Thursday, September 25.

The Honorable William H. Sullivan will be on the Monterey Peninsula as guest of the World Affairs Council. He will speak at Brey Hall, Carmel High School at 8 p.m. tonight.

Bernard Van Horne, president of the World Affairs Council, said that Sullivan served as ambassador to Laos before being appointed by President Nixon to his present position.

"We expect him to give us an official explanation of the present status of affairs in Southeast Asia," Van Horne said, "and some indication of the direction our national policy there can be expected to take." The general public is invited to hear Ambassador Sullivan.

There is no charge.

Rent a UCB safe deposit box now and get this keepsake free.

Why risk losing legal documents and irreplaceable heirlooms by not having a safe deposit box? Each year, thousands of Californians lose valuable items that could have been protected for less than 2¢ a day. Yes, that's all it costs for the security and peace of mind of a fireproof, burglarproof safe deposit box at United California Bank.

If you've told yourself you'd get around to renting one, and never did, here's the opportunity to take that wise step — plus an added incentive. With the rental of a UCB safe deposit box of any size, we're offering free Old Monterey Bicentennial Medallions.

These commemorative pieces are available in lustrous bronze for lasting beauty. They're a treasure that might be the first keepsake you want to put in safe deposit. But hurry, this special offer expires December 31, 1969.

Jazz Festival Impressions

Jimmy Lyons, Jazz Festival entrepreneur, served his patrons with many new sounds this year, overamplified to cover the constant chatter, but stimulating, to say the least.

Outstanding was the amazing violin virtuosity of Parisian Jean Luc Ponty whose razor sharp bow stretched the scales with fast off center triplets and triads. The quiet dignity of Modern Jazz Quartet leader John Lewis was contrasted with the sheer energy displayed by wiry percussionist Tony Williams, and the frantic rock of Sly and the Family Stone.

Hit of the afternoon was young Buddy Guy and his Blues band playing "Never Know How Much I Love You". Buddy never missed a beat with his electric guitar even when playing behind his back or hitting it with his handkerchief.

There was Roberta Flack too, singing at the piano, and the Lighthouse Group, of lighthearted rock players from Toronto containing cellos, violas and violins wired for sound.

It was Monty Alexander on the piano in the evening, playing with brash authority, and Thelonus Monk very serious; Roberta Flack better than ever and two far out pieces by the Miles Davis Quartet.

All set for a quiet Sunday

Visits Carmel

Here for a recent weekend visit with his mother, Mrs. Julian von Meier, was Dr. Kurt von Meier who has been teaching Art History at UCLA.

He has accepted a new post as an associate professor at Sacramento State, and has fortunately been able to concentrate all his class lectures and seminars into a two-day teaching schedule so that he may devote the rest of the week to writing.

His next article will appear in this month's issue of Art International, published in Switzerland. Recent articles have appeared in Art Forum, Arts Canada and Vogue magazines.

afternoon of strings for Monterey. What a surprise to get a Concerto for Trumpet and orchestra by Bobby Bryant and the Monterey Jazz Festival Orchestra.

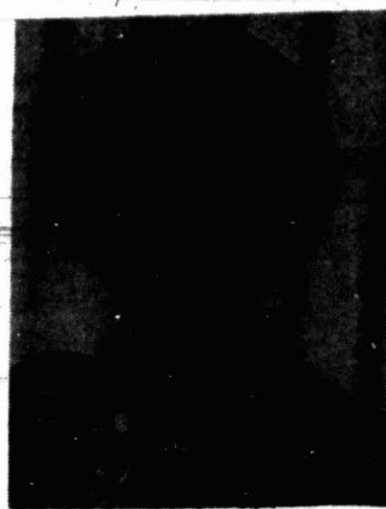

There was a puzzled look on the face of symphony conductor Haymo Taeuber's face after hearing Ponty's progressive jazz compositions played on the amplified violin. At last some quiet music when the distinguished Los Angeles String Quartet joined the Modern Jazz Quartet in some of pianist John Lewis' compositions.

In the evening there was George Duke at the piano, John Heard on bass, and Alan Cecchi on drums, background for the ever amazing violinist Ponty. Duke's "Whoosh" got the most applause. Sarah Vaughn in flowing gown, really communicated with a loving audience, accompanied by John Veith, piano, Ed Pucci, drums, and Gus Mancuso, bass.

In the stands and along the midway there were the colorful, fantastic costumes to look at, African drumbeat drawing a crowd to the Nairobi exhibit, William Stone and Bob Pelton displaying their bright neckties. All very exotic.

Lots of new sounds, much of it too loud for mature ears, color and excitement, on the whole a great weekend, thanks to Jimmy Lyons.

Citizen Of The Month

Mrs. Charlie Knight

There is much cause for rejoicing on the part of the Leroy Knight family who moved into their new home on Carmel Riviera Drive recently.

First of all, they have a new son, Leroy Jr., born on schedule, September 14.

Not long ago, Mrs. Knight, Charlie to her many friends, was honored by Seaside Mayor Louis N. Haddad as Citizen of the Month, for her many contributions to the community as an educator. She is competent story education and special projects coordinator for the Monterey Peninsula School District, and has taught for years, having done graduate work in administration, counselling and guidance in many colleges, including the University of California.

Mrs. Knight is on the board of Pioneer House, Lyceum, Family Service and Young Life, the Altrusa Club, Arts Coordinating Council, the Governor's Advisory Committee on Pre-School Education and numerous other civic organizations.

She was chosen this year as one of the Outstanding Young Women of America.

Her husband, Sgt. Knight, is an Army veteran of 16 years of service.

For Scholars

The American Association of University Women will hold its 20th annual Rummage Sale at the Fairgrounds on Oct. 2, 3, 4.

An enormous committee under the general chairmanship of Ruth Vreeland and Vivian Zimmerman will work on the sale which will include clothing, new items, books and records, furniture and toys, antiques, and garden material.

A Christmas booth will be added this year. A gourmet booth will be a special service for Friday night shoppers and there will also be a snack bar.

Proceeds will finance scholarships for women.

London Summer

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Nix of Carmel have just returned from a month in England.

Mrs. Nix attended the International Cecchetti Ballet Congress and was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. John Hart of London. Hart is the assistant director of the Royal Ballet Company and Mrs. Ann Hart is an active dancer in the company.

Mrs. Nix was pleased to hear that Wayne Eagling of Carmel Valley is soon to have his first big break when he joins the first company of the Royal this month.

Hawaiian Wedding In Valley

Authentic Hawaiian wedding clothing was worn by the entire bridal party at the recent wedding of Theresa Suzanne Frumkin of Carmel Valley and Richard Clarmont Tighe, Jr. of Honolulu.

The ceremony was held out of doors beneath the oaks at the Saddle Mountain Ranch home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Frumkin.

The Rev. Karel V. Vit of the Unitarian Church officiated.

Theresa was dressed in a flower print in pastel shades of pink, blue and beige on white. She wore a lei of white carnations and a headpiece of the same flowers.

Alice Gill of Pacific Grove was her maid of honor and Sam Goldsmith, a childhood friend of the groom, raised in Hawaii, served as best man.

The Polynesian theme was carried out with native music, fishnet, shells, ferns and gardenias at the champagne buffet dinner at the reception in the recreation hall at Saddle Mountain.

Theresa is a graduate of Carmel High School. The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Tighe of Honolulu is a graduate of Kalani High School there.

The engagement of Sandra Bauman and Duane Olson was announced recently by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Les L. Johnson of Carmel Highlands, on the groom's 21st birthday. Duane, a graduate of Robert Louis Stevenson School, attended Monterey Peninsula College and is a senior at UC at Irvine. He is the son of Mrs. Harold Olson of Marina and the late Mr. Olson. Sandra, a graduate of Carmel High School and MPC, where she was a cheerleader, is in her junior year at San Diego State College where she is majoring in education.

Weeks, Hunter Engagement

A wedding early in October in the Rodary Chapel at Santa Catalina School has been planned by Joan Weeks, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Weeks of Pebble Beach and Modesto, and Maj. Francis R. Hunter, Jr. (USAF) of Berkeley.

Miss Weeks, who has served as an executive with Beattie Motors for a number of years, is active in amateur golf. She is an advisor on the U. S. Golf Association junior girls committee.

A graduate of Dominican High School at San Rafael, and the University of California at Berkeley she was affiliated with Alpha Phi sorority.

Maj. Hunter is the son of Mrs. Francis R. Hunter and the late Col. Hunter. Graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, he is with the Air Force at Travis Air Force Base.

Welcome Wagon

The monthly luncheon meeting of the Welcome Wagon Club of the Monterey Peninsula will be held on Thursday, October 2 at Neptune's Table, Wharf No. 1, Monterey, at 1 p.m.

A recent bride was Mrs. Allen Knight, the former Brooke Barnett, of Fresno. Allen, the son of Mrs. Adele Knight and the late Allen Knight, former mayor of Carmel, went through Carmel schools, MPC and UC Santa Barbara. He and his bride have masters degrees in drama from San Francisco State College and both teach in the San Mateo School District. Attending the wedding from Carmel were Allen's sisters, Mrs. K.W. Bliesner and Mrs. Roger W. Premier and their families, Messrs. and Mesdames Walter Premier and daughter Gay, Warren Masten, Robert Douglas, Bruce Langshaw and Mrs. Eleanor Burke.

Klas-Decker Wedding

The wedding of Barbara Stephanie Klas, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Klas, former residents of the Carmel area, and Randall E. "Kip" Decker Jr., whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Randall E. Decker Sr., used to live in Carmel Valley, took place recently in Goleta.

brother, of Livermore where the family now live.

The couple will live in Santa Barbara where the groom is working toward his master's degree in fine arts and serving as a teaching assistant at UC from which he graduated in 1967.

Graduate of Carmel High School and the University of California at Santa Barbara where she majored in psychology, Barbara teaches in the Carpinteria School District.

Barbara's two sisters, Janis and Susan, served as her bridesmaids. Douglas Fossatie was best man and ushers were Thomas Mulchaey of Pacific Grove and Bill Klas, Barbara's

AGENT / ALLIED VAN LINES

What's doing?

I'd like to pass on this reminder about the most relaxed, comfortable way you can travel these days

Fly Pacific Telephone Lines with a long distance call. In seconds you can be visiting friends or family. And the cost is low. After six p.m. weekdays or all weekend long, it costs 85¢ or less for three minutes, station-to-station, plus tax—anywhere in California. Now where can you beat a round trip travel offer like that?

If you're like a lot of people, you scribble phone numbers you want to remember on everything imaginable—matchbooks, scraps of paper and odds and ends of all sorts. So here's a suggestion that will help you keep those numbers organized. Let us give you one of our Personal Numbers Booklets. It has plenty of spaces for names, addresses, and telephone numbers; and it's a handy size for slipping under the phone. Just call your Business Office and we'll be happy to send you one—or more if you need them.

Some early day handset telephone users likely found themselves developing some unusual arm muscle. One 19th century handset—a separate transmitter and receiver attached to thick steel—weighed in at 1 pound 10 ounces. The weight of most modern handsets: a mere 10 ounces.

The Monterey Peninsula Community Chest reminds you: "People need help." You can help them help themselves by giving your fair share the United Way.

Many Hands

The old saying "Many hands make light work" is surely true in Girl Scouting and Carmel Girl Scouts need many hands.

Do you like to see young people grow in acceptance of responsibility, in social ease, in all the ways that make it easier to live in the world today?

All sorts of help is needed — someone to spend two weekends a year in a troop whose leader cannot go camping — five or six afternoons a year in the field of crafts — an afternoon a week and a morning a month as troop leader — several leader assistants.

There are three age groups to work with: 2nd and 3rd graders, Jr., 4, 5, 6th grades, and cadettes, 7, 8, 9th.

If you can help, please call Mrs. Richard (Naeda) Robinson at 624-2890 or Francetta Marshall at 375-4482 or Field Advisor of the Girl Scout Council.

informal meetings by playing recordings. This program has been made possible by the gift to the Foundation of a new stereo.

The program is open to the public and anyone attending is invited to bring records he may wish to share with the audience.

CHOW HOUNDS — First in line for Vince Colletto's (left) barbecued steaks last Thursday evening were Carmel artist James Peter Cost, Mrs. Mary Barter and Bud Allen, all of the Carmel Business Association. More than 100 guests attended the CBA get-together high in Carmel Valley.

Town House Listening Hour

The Carmel Foundation will present a new concept in entertainment to its members when the "Listening Hour" will be offered at the Town House on Thursday, Oct. 2 from 2:30 to 3:30.

Carmel AFS News

By Mildred McKee

Excerpts from letters Lynn Fryback has written since she arrived in Japan as an American Field Service exchange student:

"Did I tell you I have a Japanese name? They can't say Lynn very well and it comes out 'Reen.' If you say it over and over it sounds like a little bell so they call me Suzuko. I like the name and it sounds a lot better than 'Reen.'"

The first night here my family kept me up until 12:30 just talking. Not really talking — gesturing. I showed them my pictures and they kept pouring tea down me. Finally Kayoko (my sister) showed me around the house.

The main room is a little bigger than my bedroom at home and has western style furniture. Everybody sits on the floor anyway. The halls have wooden floors but the bedrooms are tatami. The family room has a wood floor with a rug that covers most of it. The sinks are right out in the halls. We sleep on the floor and have to put the bedding in the closet during the day.

Kayoko and I have to vacuum our rooms every day. There is no hot running water in my house, only a small tank above the kitchen sink for dishes and one above the bath and only one room is heated.

Tsutomu and Kayoko took me to the beach the other day. It's really nice but the sand is a real dark brown, quite different from Carmel.

I'm going to have to watch what I say. Instead of "yes" I say "yeah" a lot. Takashi got out his German book and asked me if I was saying yes in German. It was hard to explain. Okachama just came over and asked me why my paper was slanted when I write. How funny. They really notice every little thing. The last AFS student was lefthanded and in Calligraphy the teacher insisted that everyone hold his pen in his right hand.

Call to Action

The League of Women Voters urges members and other women interested in clean water to write their Senators and Congressmen asking them to approve appropriation of the $1 billion for federal grants for sewage treatment construction.

A Citizens Crusade for Clean Water was launched by 34 organizations who believe that water pollution has reached a critical stage.

Henry Mello, president of the Association of Monterey Bay Area Governments has asked LWV for help in furthering AMBAG's application for federal funds for a comprehensive Waste Water Management Plan for the Monterey Bay area.

The proposal to dump sewage effluent from the San Francisco Bay area into the ocean off Santa Cruz county gave impetus to the effort.

Letters to State Senator Grunsky and Assemblyman Wood would also be helpful.

Movie Review

I Am Curious (Yellow) — Here it is, the Swedish film that has raised such an uproar. Satire mixes with interesting explorations of Swedish culture with notoriously explicit sex scenes. Not worth the fuss that has been raised over its legitimacy. At the Hill.

Oliver! — This Academy Award winner is based on the Charles Dickens novel Oliver Twist. From the London musical stage, and directed by Sir Carol Reed. At Cinema 70.

Funny Girl — Barbra Streisand's first movie. Life story of Fanny Brice. Omar Sharif as gangster Nick Arnstein is outstanding. Walter Pidgeon too. At the Regency.

Midnight Cowboy — Jon Voight is a Texas drifter who winds up in New York, and Dustin Hoffman is a corrupt con man who serves as his guide. This is a highly recommended, extremely thoughtful comedy. At the Steinbeck on Cannery Row.

Hang 'Em High — Clint Eastwood in the type of thing he does best — the anti-hero. He's torn between his own personal vengeance against Ed Bagely, who is a real bad type baddy, and letting the law and justice, as represented by Pat Hingle, take its course. Inger Stevens, Arlene Golonka are around for color, and James MacArthur is an unlikely preacher. At Grove.

Me, Natalie — Patty Duke gets a chance to show that she is a dramatic actress as well as a light comedienne. She turns in a convincing performance as a homely Brooklyn girl battling the inanities of her family life and the insanities of Greenwich Village. At the Golden Bough.

Bullitt — A crackling cops and robbers thriller in which detective Steve McQueen is in charge of protecting a hoodlum slated to testify at a Senate hearing. Great suspense, and McQueen gets help from Robert Vaughn, Jacqueline Bisset and Simon Oakland. Filmed in San Francisco. At the State.

The Assassination Bureau — A plot-cramped English comedy set in London starring Oliver Reed and Diana Rigg. Inspired by a story by Jack London, the comedy mounted and played with a good deal of period style. Reed plays hide-and-seek all over Europe followed closely by Miss Rigg. At the Valley Cinema.

The Italian Job — This is one of those funny crime shows. Noel Coward masterminds a daring raid in Italy from the safety of his jail cell in England. Michael Caine leads the motely crew in Italy. A funny movie at times, but one without a message, which it really doesn't need. At the Valley Cinema.

Planet of the Apes — Charlton Heston leads a crew of space explorers to a planet where the apes rule. He's put in a zoo, but with the aid of a beautiful girl he manages to decipher all the monkey business until even he is stunned by the emotion-packed climax. At the Carmel Village Theater.

Stage Review

"The Owl and the Pussycat" — At the Circle, F. Sherman believes sex should be strictly intellectual. Doris is convinced it's completely physical. They try, unsuccessfully, to find a middle road, which leaves them shouting and screaming at each other, except in bed, when all is hunky-dory. Swiftly paced comedy with only two actors and assorted sound effects and stage props. Great play for a small theater-in-the-round like the Circle. Roy Baxter's superb direction is responsible for much of the funny stuff. Call 624-2669 for reservations. Plays weekends through October. Curtain at 8:30 except Sunday, 7:30.

"Don't Drink the Water" — Political hi-jinks in an American Embassy somewhere behind the Iron Curtain. The Hollanders, just plain folk from New Jersey, are mistaken for spies and take refuge in the Embassy. Plot revolves around the hilarious efforts in behalf of their escape back to the States. Sam and Edie Karas are outstanding as the Hollanders, and they make this Woody Allen comedy a delight to behold. The play moves primarily through dialogue, and great dialogue at that. The Karas' play each line for all it's worth, milking every nuance of comedy from their parts. For reservations call 624-1661. Curtain at 8:30 except Sunday, one hour earlier.

Zany Hart-Kaufman Comedy Next For NPS

The Naval Postgraduate School Little Theater will present its production of "You Can't Take It With You," a delightful zany comedy by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman. There will be performances on the 10th, the 11th, 17th, and the 18th of October at King Hall with the curtain rising at 8:30 p.m.

The cast and crew have been at work under the direction of Dick Vreeland, who also lent his talents to the Little Theater's productions of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," and "Oklahoma." The co-producers are J.C. Hale and Sue Breen. Art director is Karen Kilday; technical and set director is Red Layton; in charge of properties is Barbara Pender and Gayle Donegan is in charge of makeup.

TALENTED DUO — In "Don't Drink the Water" at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant, the Hollanders (Edie and Sam Karas) are persuaded to disguise themselves as an Arab sultan and his wife in order to escape from behind the Iron Curtain. In fact innocent tourists, they have been mistaken for spies and forced to seek refuge in the American Embassy. The Woody Allen comedy which ran nearly 600 performances on Broadway plunges along at breakneck speed to almost continuous merriment until the final curtain.

THE DISCUS THROWER... WITH CIGAR — Carmelite J.C. Hale as Mr. Depinna in "You Can't Take It With You" models a modern discus thrower for Penelope Sycamore played by Mary Margaret Gallagher. The production comes to the Naval Postgraduate School on two weekends in October — the 10th and 11th and 17th and 18th.

Traditional southern cookery is getting a lively transfusion of new flavors. A wide and growing interest in the cuisine of foreign lands is being welcomed at Virginia's tables.

Part of the change is due to a more cosmopolitan population as new industries bring people from other regions. Also the greater frequency of foreign travel has intrigued Virginians. Just for example, the International Market of a super chain in Richmond. It has sparked those just plain bored with the "same old thing."

New culinary adventures, which still retain a southern taste are on the stove and in the air. Take for instance the happy coincidence that in Powhatan near the old Jervey homestead where your Party Plans editor is relaxing, is a true Carmelite!

Mrs. Leroy P. Collins, who spent seven happy years in Carmel and is known affectionately as "Connie" to her many friends there, now lives with her husband General Collins in Powhatan, Virginia. They reconstructed a "gone with the wind" plantation to what is now the pride of the country... an imposing Colonial mansion with genuine southern hospitality. Mrs. Collins has added that certain nuance from their different tours of duty and entertained your editor with a lovely example of her imaginative "melting pot menus."

Mint Julep

Place silver goblets on 4 thicknesses of newspaper. To each add 1 t. sugar dissolved in a little water. Add 10 large mint leaves and bruise with iced tea spoon, adding 1 t. water to the sugar water. Fill goblet (or tall glass) with shaved ice; pour best bourbon to top. Stir a little without touching goblet or glass and let stand until frosted. Add sprig of mint in top.

This is an old recipe. The butler would pass them on a silver tray using his white-gloved hand to serve them. Nowadays use a tea towel when putting into and removing from refrigerator so as to keep the frosting intact.

Cheese Canapes

Make the cheese canapes from bread cut in half in inch crescent shape pieces. Toast on both sides. Dip each in melted butter and sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese. Cover with deviled minced ham. Set them in the oven until heated through.

Shrimp Cocktail

Thaw frozen shrimp (already cleaned and shelled) or use the fresh, which of course are the best. Cover each with a sauce made of 2 T. horseradish to 8 T. catsup, 4 T. lemon juice, dash of celery salt and Tabasco, each. Shake well and chill before serving.

Connie's Chicken Country Captain

One large hen, cut into serving pieces; 4 T. bacon fat; 1 large chopped onion; 1 large green pepper, seeded and membrane removed, chopped; 1/2 stick butter; 1 t. curry powder; 1/3 t. thyme, red pepper, each; 1/4 t. salt; 1 large can tomatoes; a "handful" of currants and sliced blanched almonds, each; chopped parsley; 1 garlic clove, minced; flour, rice.

Dredge chicken pieces in flour and brown in bacon fat. Saute onion and green pepper in butter in separate Add to chicken with remaining ingredients. Simmer, covered, in Dutch oven or put into baking dish in 300 F. oven until chicken is tender. Keep cover on and replenish liquid (water or wine) if it cooks out. There should be a smooth sauce.

At serving put chicken on a bed of fluffy hot rice.

Pour sauce over this and top with currants, almonds and chopped parsley. This only serves 4 - double recipe for 6-8.

Duchess Peas

For this unusual variety, use 1 1/2 cups mashed potatoes, adding 1 well-beaten egg, 1 T. melted butter, salt and pepper to taste. Mix thoroughly. Drop by spoonfuls on buttered cookie sheet. Make a little hole in each. Brown lightly on top of stove. Remove and fill center with cooked frozen peas, buttered and seasoned. Serves 4.

Watermelon Pickle

Two lbs. watermelon rind; 3 lbs. sugar; 1 pint vinegar; 1 stick cinnamon; 1/2 oz. whole mace; 2 ginger roots, crushed, (med. size); 1 T.

powered cloves.

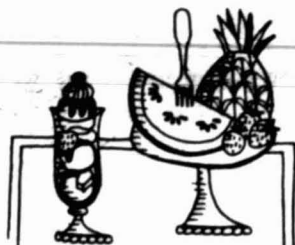

To 1 gal water add a piece of alum a little smaller than a walnut. Pour over the rind and boil until tender and clear. Drain well. Mix sugar and vinegar, add spices tied in a coarse mesh bag, or leave loose; let come to a boil. Pour over rind and let set until next day. Do this three times. The last time, heat the pickle with the syrup. Put in jars and seal.

Mrs. Collins often serves this menu for a ladies' luncheon when General Collins is busy trimming the honeysuckle vines off his white picket fence. "A change," says the General with a twinkle in his eyes, "from picking off the dead geranium leaves on Camino Real" where they lived in Carmel.

At her bridge luncheons Connie Collins simplifies the supper menu by serving sherry without canapes. The "Country Captain" (a recipe of her mother's) is on one plate with watercress and crabapple preserves, biscuits. Iced tea and pineapple sherbet with thin lemon wafers completes the delightful luncheon.

Mrs. Collins has promised your Party Plans editor to make a visit to the PINE CONE (which she has always enjoyed) this Fall when she will stay with Phyllis Jervey... of Carmel... and now very temporarily of Powhatan!

MPC Bumps West Hills In Non-Conference Opener

By Marc Hinchey
Monterey Peninsula College officially kicked-off the 1969 football season last Saturday night with a 22-2 victory over visiting Cypress Girls.

Cypress swimmers brought home two silver medals and three ribbons from the Concord Mermaids Invitational Age-Group Figures Meet held at Meadow Homes Pool in Concord on Sunday, competing against 162 synchronized swimmers from thirteen Pacific AAU clubs.

The silver medalists were Carmel's own Lynnnda Zarp in the 15-17 division, and Carmel Valley's Jodi Ricketts in the 10-and-under age-group. Cypress ribbon-winners were Gerri Brandly, fourth in the 11-12 division; Kim Pilkenton, fifth in the 13-14 event; and Teri Rahe, seventh in the 15-17 age-group.

Sixteen-year-old Lynnnda was high scorer for the local team, whose other placings were as follows: Debbie Jameson, 13th, and Stacy Larsen, 14th, in the 10-and-under event; Kathryn Blevens, 9th in the 11-12 event; and Ellen Williams, 16th, and Markli Johnston, 34th, in the 13-14 event.

All the Cypress swimmers will be participating with their teammates in the Club's fifth annual "Aqua-Spectacular" on Saturday and Sunday afternoons, Oct. 11 and 12, when the senior National AAU Champions, the Santa Clara Aquamaids, will join them for two fund-raising performances at Rancho del Monte Country Club in Carmel Valley.

Meanwhile, five of the younger members will be busy the next two consecutive weekends when they, along with their coach Donn Squire, and manager Del Neel, will travel to Santa Clara to participate as special guests in the Aquamaids' 10 fund-raising performances of their own watershow at the International Swim Center there.

Swimmers making the trip are Kathryn Blevens, Gerri Brandly, Debbie Jameson, Jodi Ricketts, and Stacy Larsen.

West Hills College (formerly Coalinga College) at the campus stadium.

The Lobos are at Larrabee Stadium in Ventura this Saturday afternoon for a 1 p.m. contest with the Ventura College Pirates. The Pirates, coached by Bob Long, tied MPC 14-14 last year and should again be tough this year.

Pacing Ventura will be halfback Darrell Downey, quarterback Jeff Attebery and defensive back Laron Matlock. Downey was an All-Western State Conference pick last season, and Matlock gained honorable mention. The Pirates had a 7-1-1 record in 1968, good enough for second place in the WSC. On the season, they scored at an average of 34.9 points per game while allowing opponents only 11.8 a contest. In the series started with Monterey in 1958 however, the Pirates have won only two while losing eight and tying one.

In last Saturday night's season opener, MPC dominated the game defensively, holding West Hills to minus yardage both in the air and on the ground.

The Lobos scored in each of the first two quarters en route to a 16-0 halftime lead. Dave Stewart got the Lobos their first tally midway through the first period on a two yard quarterback sneak. The touchdown capped a fifty yard drive for the Maroon and White which featured runs by Stewart, Mike Mitchem and Jim Bailey. Mitchem added the 2 point conversion run on a sweep around right end.

In the second period, Stewart hit flanker Jim Donovan with a 40 yard pass to carry the Lobos to the visitor's nine yard line, and two plays later end Bill Stowers latched onto a Stewart pass for 7 yards and a TD. Stewart ran for the PAT.

West Hills scored in the third quarter on a safety which resulted when Lobo punter Avon Young had a kick blocked in the endzone.

The game's last score fell in the final period. Fullback John Knox went through the middle of the Falcon line for a 21 yard touchdown jaunt.

Padres Drop Tough One To Alisal Team, 14-6

BY Hal Gann

Carmel High's Varsity Football Team bowed to big, rugged Alisal of Salinas, 14-6 Saturday afternoon after three big scoring opportunities that failed. Head Coach Jason Harbert's comment: "Our Offense was very ragged."

The impressively large local turnout of Padre Boosters was consoled, however, in the third quarter when Junior Quarterback-Safety Jimmy DeAmaral returned a Trojan punt for 70 yards and a touchdown, behind several good blocks and two key

Lobo Boosters Meet Thursday

The Lobo Club is happy to announce that it will hold its meetings at the Elks Club in Monterey.

The meetings will start at 7:30 p.m. and highlights of the evening will include talks by Head Football Coach Lukie Phillips, Line Coach Tor Spindler, and Backfield Coach Chris Pappas.

The purpose of the Lobo Club is to provide moral and financial support for members of the Monterey Peninsula College teams.

A membership card entitles a member to two reserved seats in our rooting section near the 50-yard line at all home games.

Every Thursday evening, there will be a social meeting at the Elks Club at 7:30 p.m. Movies of the previous week's game will be shown, and the coaching staff discusses team prospects and game strategy with the members.

For additional information, contact the president of the Lobo Club, Mr. Nino Russo, at 375-0341.

ones by Robert Gimble and Steve Taylor. This tied the game at six-all.

But Alisal, a much larger squad, struck back to break the tie with the same pass play that gave them the first-half lead, Quarterback Stefani tossing 27 yards to End Jim Rubis.

After the second six-pointer by the Green and White, Runningback Choate skirted left for the two extra points to make it 14-6.

The Carmel Varsity will defend its Mission Trail League Jamboree title of 1968 in Hollister this Friday night, going against the teams of the East and West of the Conference without the services of DeAmaral and Backfieldman Gary Cohn, both sustaining an ankle and knee injury, respectively, in the last Saturday's clash.

However, Coach Harbert declares both should be ready for the league opener — against the favored team this year — at Hollister a week from this Friday night.

For the Round-Robin Jamboree tournament in Hollister this Friday evening, Carmel is proud to see the return of Runningback Rick Hall (Jr.) who performed well against Junipero in the season opener, at which time he was afflicted with a back injury.

(Carmel Varsity radio coverage in the Jamboree will be rebroadcast Saturday afternoon at 4:30 on KRSA-FM, 100.7 Mc)

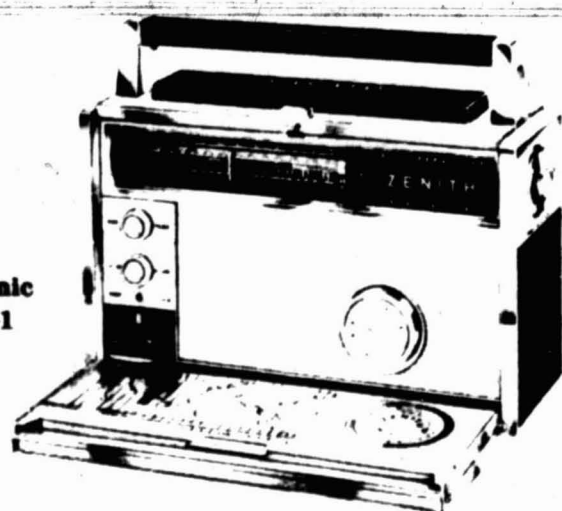

The Padre Varsity on defense was sparked by Seniors Lance Lighthall, Brian Robotti, Jay Argust, Bill Rees, and Chris Smith, and Junior Mark Belangee, who made several good stops at end.

Goings On

May Youngberg is taking her first vacation in years at home in her Robles garden enjoying birdsong and budding flowers, and the marvelous peace and quiet and sunshine that we all love so much up in our part of the Valley... business as usual though, with both Cass Cassidy and Elaine Riddell manning the Town and Country Properties Office.

Others on vacation are Dean and Josie Diaz, who have taken off to the big city of San Francisco for a bit of gandering and philandering around, with Dean's sister babysitting. The Plaza Linda carries on with Dean Sr. and Dan Tavares busy as bees.

Will is back at his Fargo and all is right with the world over that-a-way. The Village Art Center has a new list of classes for fall to be seen on the back page of this section of the paper next week.

Aileen at Los Laureles Lodge reports that they were full up for the Jazz Festival crowd as was the Valley Lodge, and Rippling River.

Larry Cummings has had a great vacation, doing a bit of gold mining.

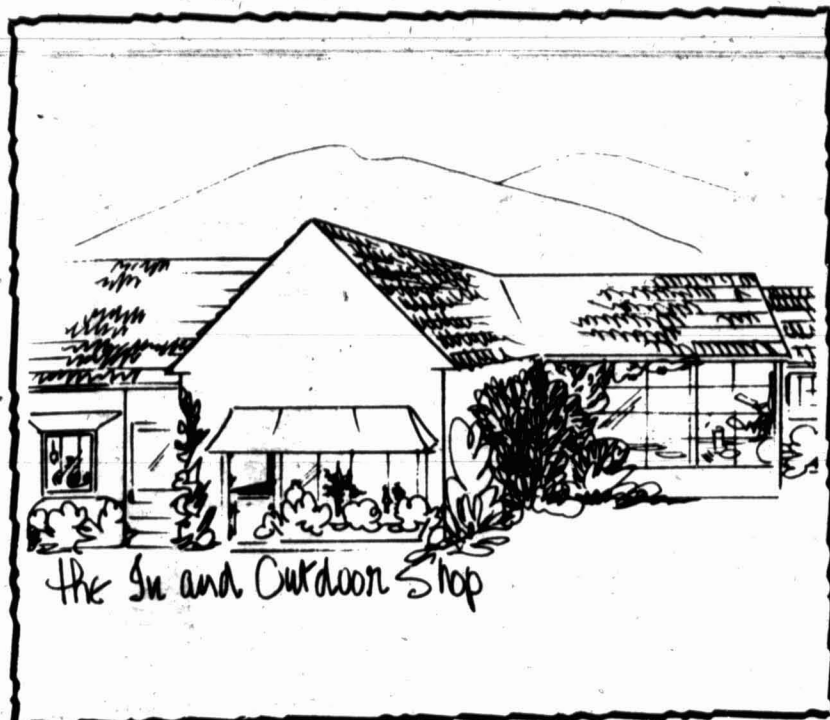

Marian Wilson is thrilled to pieces with the marvelous pencil drawings Kozak has done of animals and has a very good selection of them just in.

At the In and Outdoor Shop, everyone is flying off in all directions with marvelous travel paraphernalia such as satin or brocade jewel totes, suitcase arrangers, soiled clothing bags for both men and women, and soupourries and passport holders and of course those darling little mini dictionaries in bright bright colors to be found instantly in the dark confines of ones purse.

Vonn Hamilton has added several more of his new technique sculptural collage figurines, in high color and marvelous detail, to his collection being shown at the Keeping Room.

Dru painted huge welcome signs for one of her oldest friends, Elna Mae Le Baron, from Portland, and splurged with a champagne supper and Beef Bourguinone Fondue as well as Swiss Gruyere Fondue at the Keeping Room the night she arrived.

Barbara Booth, Mildred Armstrong, Vonn Hamilton, and Edith Brattin, as well as Queen of the Kitchen Claudia Hartke and Linda Scholink joined in the dunking and dipping. Irene Baldwin reminisces when she sees the village children on horse back. Her daughter Betty, was the proud owner of a horse named May West when the Baldwins moved into the Valley many years back.

Marzi's entertained yet another tour of Navy graduate school wives last week with a tour of the pottery.

Who's To Know

Glen Mewhinney is working on a very exciting and very valuable show of Stanley Woods Watercolors and Lithographs, a part of the collection owned by Edith Brattin of Brattin Nurseries.

Woods came to Carmel, along with many other artists, playwrights, authors, cartoonists and poets and marked the true beginning of the image of early Carmel as the haven of creativity on the West Coast.

His contemporaries include John Catlin, who worked with wrought iron in his "Forge in the Forest" on Junipero St. There he had an open shed, much as Milton Williams does in his present "Garden Shop" on Lincoln St. today. It was an easy matter to take John a drawing or a picture of what was wanted and then stand and watch him heat and pound and shape the heavy metal into the exact form right in front of your eyes. George Marion, Ted Kuster, Stewart Edward White, Gillette Burgess, and Robinson Jeffers... and others of equal stature, made the town of Carmel what it became... an artistic, aesthetic, beckoning seaside lure to the world at large, who marvelled at the tree strewn streets, and windswept beauty of the dunes and cypress trees, and remarked the brilliance of the flowers in wild profusion whose colors seemed magnified and intensified beyond the imagination.

In addition to building the internationally-famous "Theatre of the Golden Bough," opposite the Pine Inn on Ocean Ave., Ted Kuster built three shops as a foreground for the theatre which, still standing distinctively, influenced the architectural character of all shops in Carmel from there on.

Hugh Comstock underlined this era in a far reaching way by building the first "Doll Houses" the initial one to be a showroom for the whimsical dolls he and his wife made at that time.

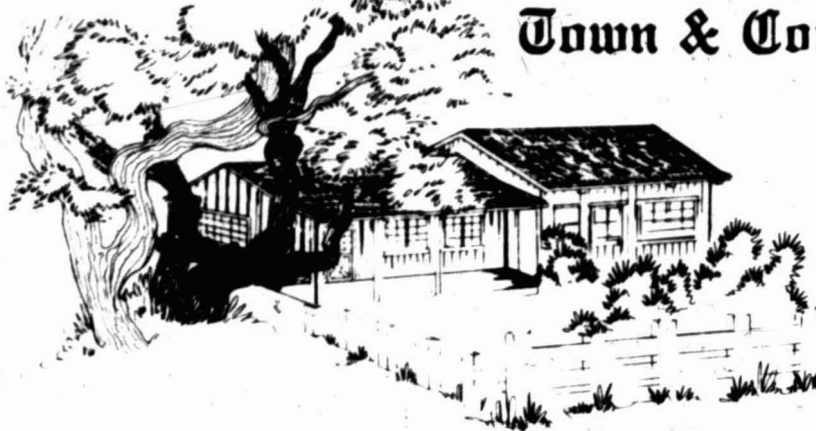

The Stanley Woods show is well worth the trip up the Valley Road to see, and it is interesting that Helen Dooley has a show of his work at this very time also. For those interested in the true character of early Carmel, these two collections vividly portray the very heart of an era sadly delegated to the past.

Easter in Mallorca

by Joanne Louise Nix

Part III

I am anxious to do some shopping, but after being water-logged all winter in England, I could rather wait until the rain has stopped before I venture out. I may have a long wait, though. There seems to be no sign of change.

It is Monday afternoon. The shops are closed because it is the Monday after Easter, but in a relaxed April 8th Come Again Another Day. At last we were able to see the "Island of Light" in all its splendor. It was clear but there was a slight breeze. Perfect weather for a bicycle ride.

We rented bicycles and began peddling toward Cabo Blanco, a beach that we had heard was not so choked with tourists as the one at Arenal.

Mallorca lay before us like an artist's palette—green upon green upon yellow and red, the sky a vault of blue above.

We took a trail upward and found another road parallel to the one on which we had been travelling. I know now why Mallorca and the Monterey Peninsula are sister areas. There were the same pine trees and foliage, the same mild spring weather, the same feeling of peace and complete contentment.

The only difference were the small Mediterranean farms and orchards that dotted the countryside of Mallorca. We passed small houses made of stone and clay, and had they been constructed of adobe, I would have felt as though I were riding through the Monterey countryside of two hundred years ago.

We spotted a flock of sheep and goats so we stopped for a moment to listen to the shepherd's symphony—sheep bells and gentle, baahing.

We rode on and on farther from the beach and deeper into what looked like Seventeen Mile Drive country. The lovely countryside caused us to forget for a while our idea of finding the beach, but after a rest stop, we decided to try to find a road to the sea.

We had ridden many miles past the Cabo Blanco road, so we asked directions to the nearest beach and rode down to a hotel overlooking a rocky but pleasant beach on the Cabo Enderrocat.

We sat on the patio of the hotel looking across the Bahia de Palma and watching large, dark storm clouds creep toward us.

I was reluctant to leave our balcony perch because the area reminded me so much of Monterey Bay, but the sun was gone now and so we started back to the road. Soon after we had cut back down our trail to the road we had left earlier, the rain clouds overtook us and chased us home.

atmosphere such as this, they find many reasons to close. The siesta period runs from one to three in the afternoon, but one can always find something open.

April 9th

Raindrop!!!

The only rain today was that in the title of the piece written by Chopin during the winter of 1838. He and his author companion, George Sand, lived in several of the cells of Carthusian monastery of Valledemosa, which is now a place of pilgrimage for many artists.

We visited the monastery on our way home from a day's drive that took us through the mountains of Soller. Up and up we drove, past gnarled olive trees that hugged the sides of the mountains and waved their ancient branches at us as we passed.

Mallorca has been compared to a garden although there are not a great many gardens in the island. The people take great care of their cultivated land and the terraces, built to withstand sudden rainstorms, give the entire island the appearance of a garden.

On our way to Soller, we visited a noted Moorish garden, Alfabia. There is a legend that a famous Saracen named Benabet offered his troops to the service of the King of Spain during the conquest of Jaime I because of his love for a Christian girl.

The story may or may not be true, but Alfabia contains a Moorish influenced principal building and a curiously designed, disorganized garden in which rose beds and palm trees grow side by side.

Reviews for Young Readers

By Allene Fremier

Meindert DeJong's new book Journey From Peppermint Street has arrived.

It is a National Book Award prize winner set in Holland in the early 1900's. It is the story of Siebrin, a nine-year-old boy who gets the chance to visit his great-aunt, who lives in an old monastery far inland. This is exciting to him because in his whole life he has never been farther away than the next village, and because it frees him from the tedium of entertaining his little brother. It turns out to be even more exciting than he anticipated, when a tornado lifts the roof off the house. It is a warm, gentle story written by the author of the 1955 Newbery Medal for his book The Wheel on the School.

Savings Bonds Figures Told

Monterey County Volunteer U.S. Savings Bonds Chairman Raymond M. Smith has released local county and state sales figures for U.S. Savings Bonds for the year to date, noting a sharp decline in redemptions for the Nation. California sales for the first eight months of this year were reported at $246,266,193; for Monterey County they were $1,786,676.

Nationally, favorable news came with the $447 million redemptions of Series E and H Savings Bonds at cost price for the month of August, down $82 million from previous month, said the Savings Bonds Volunteer.

Stratford, by Norah A. Perez, the 13-year-old heroine reluctantly goes to the Festival Theater in Stratford, Ontario with her parents. She thinks it will be very dull, but it turns out to be both fun and interesting. Not only does she come in contact with many of the actors, but there is something going on which threatens to spoil the theater season. The dialogue fast and witty and the background is interesting. The mystery is finally solved and Jenny has a wonderful summer.

Plot Night, by William Mayne is Guy Fawkes night, a time for fireworks and bonfires. John is new to the neighborhood when an arrow brings a message to his window. "Plot Night. Be ready tomorrow evening. Signed L for Leader." The note-sender turns out to be the daughter of the local policeman and she is trying to recruit John for her gang. She does succeed in obtaining a good spot for their bonfire, as well as a large pile to burn. However, just as she has asked for a match, her father appears, forbids the fire and takes her off to the community fireworks.

Antonio, by Bronson Potter, is the story of a young boy in a Portuguese fishing village. His job is to launch and retrieve the boats, but he dreams of being a seaman. Because he has a slight disability in one hand, he would be useless on a boat. However, the local schoolmaster sees Antonio as a man who could teach others. The setting is excellent and the people are real.

Mrs. Sweeney Named School Volunteer Aide Chairman

Mrs. DeForest Sweeney of Carmel has accepted the position of chairman of School Volunteer Aides (SVA), a Monterey Peninsula-wide committee to assist school districts in obtaining volunteer help from the community. The first orientation for aides is Wednesday, Sep. 24 at 11 a.m. in the Board of Education Building, 700 Pacific Street, Monterey.

Aides may bring a sack lunch, coffee and cookies will be provided.

Anyone who is interested in becoming a volunteer aide may attend the orientation session and is asked to telephone either Mrs. Sweeney at 624-5925 or the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District personnel office at 372-7111, ext. 217.

There are two kinds of aides needed. The neighborhood aide could come to school for an hour or more a day or even once a week to help grade papers, listen to children read, accompany children and teacher on a field trip, or some other duty to relieve the teacher or office personnel and benefit the educational program. Other aides are resource persons in the community who could come to speak to a class or classes on call about a particular country or occupation of which they have special knowledge.

Other members of the SVA committee are Mrs. Elsworth Amos of Seaside, Mrs. Francis Hill (recruitment chairman) and Mrs. Kenneth Ehrman both of Monterey, Mrs. Dorothy Carmalt of Carmel, and Mrs. Arnold Bowhay of Pebble Beach.

March Named PR

The Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club has named Market Trends, Inc. as its advertising and public relations agency, according to client president Edgar H. Haber.

Account executive will be Ray March, who has considerable experience in resort promotion.

The Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club is located on the Monterey Peninsula. It is an exclusive private club with an 18-hole course and it offers luxurious accommodations at Quail Lodge to a select clientele from other private clubs and groups.

WEIGHTY PROBLEM — The scale undoubtedly is measuring ounces. And at nearly five ounces (could it be the scale is measuring Troy weight, and the small, furry animal is worth its weight in karats, nearly five of them?) this ball of fluff is five hundred pounds adorable. You can weigh this kitten on your home scale as it grows if you will pick it up at the SPCA Shelter, across from the Laguna Seca Raceway on the Salinas-Monterey Highway.

Fall Courses At Santa Cruz

MPC Aviation

The Monterey Peninsula College Aviation Advisory Committee met recently to discuss plans for an aviation employment clearing center, curriculum additions for 1970 and increased cooperation with Hartnell, Gavilan and Cabrillo colleges.

In attendance were Patrick H. Beyhan, Stephen A. James, Melvin W. Jasper, Roxanne Maday, Dennis P. McCann, Paul K. Pierce, Bertram F. Rudolph Jr., Frank B. Shropshire and Leonard A. Yuckert.

The course will cost $10 and will include most materials.

Mrs. Beope projects a second course with a variety of weaving techniques including yarn dying.

The Happy Unicorn Marionette theater workshop is also meeting twice a month in the Center, with a slight change to Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

Workshop instructors Doris Cameron and Nick LeFeuvre plan to explore all facets of puppetry, making the puppets, costumes, theater, props, playwriting and production. The instructors will display a number of their own imaginative puppets and marionettes next week.

A children's art class will begin Saturday Sep. 20 from 10 a.m. to noon in the New Monterey Neighborhood Center under the direction of Marilyn Brown.

For information on pre-registration, call 372-8121, ext. 185.

Two Students Are Seated On Board Of Education

Barbara Marshment, 16, of Alamo, was seated as the state's first student member of the State Board of Education at a recent meeting in San Francisco.

Seated as alternate was Richard Honn, 17, a student at Camarillo High School, Camarillo.

The students, although they cannot legally vote, will represent some 1.5 million California secondary pupils in board discussions as spokesmen for the California Association of Student Councils, a statewide organization of student body officers.

Miss Marshment is a junior at Carondelet High School, Concord, a Catholic girls' school. She also takes classes in Algebra and chemistry this year at DeLaSalle High School, for Catholic boys. She is majoring in college prep.

"It is important to show young people that they can work through established organizations and institutions in finding solutions to their problems," said Board President Howard Day, of Long Beach, as the students were seated. "We on the board of education welcome this opportunity to work with these fine young people as representatives of the secondary students of California."

State Superintendent Dr. Max Rafferty told the board he has informed local superintendents of the program and urged them to stimulate communication between the student state representatives and local secondary students.

And a Monterey Homemaker, finding the MPC Workshop

A workshop in silk screen printing will open at Monterey Peninsula College Sep. 29, to meet six consecutive Monday evenings, 7 to 10, in MPC's art building.

Conducted by Robert Riddell, a graphic artist who runs the Artificer Shop in Bernardelli Square, Carmel Valley, the workshop will be geared to the needs of both beginners and advanced students of the medium. The history of silk screening, demonstrations of various methods, and much practical application will be included in the course of study.

Enrollment will be limited to 25, and a registration fee of $10, payable in advanced at the college community services office, will be required.

Green To MIFS

Dr. Donald Ross Green, a nationally known authority on educational psychology and testing, has joined the faculty of the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies.

Dr. Green, who is director of research and senior research psychologist for the California Test Bureau in Monterey, will join the Institute's Department of Education, which this year is expanding its teacher training program.

While continuing at CTB, Green will teach classes at the Institute in educational psychology and tests and measurements. Classes for the fall term start Sep. 22.

The mercy and justice of God are revealed in a program next Sunday titled "He will not afflict." It may be heard over radio stations KGO at 7:15, KRML at 7:45 and KDON at 8:45, and is part of the Christian Science radio series "The Bible Speaks to You."

SOCIAL SECURITY AND YOU

by Raymond MacDonald

Q. I broke my hip and I am now recuperating. My doctor prescribed a walker which I purchased used for $20. How can I claim payment from Medicare?

A. Complete a "Request for Payment" (SSA-1490) form as you would for other medical services. Submit to the Medicare carrier the claims form along with your statement for the walker and a copy of the doctor's prescriptions which should include his estimate of how long you will need the equipment.

Q. I suffered a stroke in Tijuana, Mexico, and was rushed by ambulance to a hospital in the United States. Medicare has been great about paying the hospital and doctor expenses but I've gotten an enormous ambulance bill. Will Medicare pay it?

A. No. Ambulance services which involve transporting a patient across the United States border are considered to be furnished outside of the U.S. and excluded from Medicare coverage. Q. I have to undergo some extensive diagnostic tests. My doctor will conduct the tests in his office, or if I wish, will arrange for me to have the tests made as an outpatient at the hospital. Which way will Medicare pay the most?

A. In either case, the regular Part B $50 deductible and 20 percent coinsurance will apply. If the charges are identical, the Medicare reimbursement will also be identical. (Mail your questions to Social Security, c/o Carmel Pine Cone, Carmel, or phone Social Security office 373-3351)

Valley Plaza Donations

The group of friends and neighbors who got together this spring and planted the roadside vacant properties to the delight of the owners on Pilot Rd. and Del Fino Place were the happy, surprised, and highly gratified recipients of two completely unsolicited checks to fatten their maintenance fund.

The Village Beautification Committee presented a check for $50 to Dr. Dunn and the Village Business Mens Association presented a check for $50 to Dean Diaz, both of which were banked in the Plaza de Flores account. Thank you thank you. Lou Gardner and John Bulmer were the first outside the group to say they admired the effort and wanted to show their appreciation by being regular donors. All were most touched and again want to thank these two motel owners again for their very welcome donations.

Christian Science Bible Lesson

"The kingdom is the Lord's: and he is the governor among the nations." This passage from Psalms is included in the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon to be read in churches this Sunday. The subject is "Reality."

A correlative passage from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy affirms: "When man is governed by God, the ever-present Mind who understands all things, man knows that with God all things are possible."

All are welcome at the 1st Church of Christ, Scientist at Carmel at 11 a.m. and 5 p.m.

OWNERSHIP DISPUTE

*You think you own a cat?
That is your first mistake.
Nobody owns a cat.
She just decides to make
Your house her home.
No argument. That's that:
You think you make each rule?
Another misconception.
Don't let her blandness fool
You for a single minute.
A cat not only rules the house,
But every human in it.*

Verna Fuller Young

THE QUIET PERSPECTIVE

*I want the part of love today,
That stops all building towards a height;
Then, may the hush of absence stay
To bless curtailment on its site.

A quiet of conquest yet untried,
A span of feeling without touch,
Unspoken thought will then abide
Where love might stay — sustained as such.

I need stilled rapture time to ring
Through lone tranquility. Apart
Within soft quiet I shall bring
My truest closeness to your heart.*

Comtesse Clover de Berard

TRANSCENDENCE

*Sunset, transcendent hour — union of sky and sea and land in ethereal light, scarlet and water-shimmered.
Even the seagulls adore,
standing, stilled, on stick-like legs,
In westward facing peace.*

Claudine Keinonen

ROAD CUT

*Blasted rock displays entrails on mountains
grudging scant passage.

Mountains guard and ring tortured desert stones.

When man forces through he tempts destiny.
Road cuts giving warning.

But peace is only terrors accepted.*

SEA SOLILOQUY

*The ocean is a poem Nature penned of moonlight, mist-scrubbed stars, the gold and rose of sunrise; jade and brass of sunset send the fervid sun to bed at each days' close.
Both turbulence and calmness surely planned.
The moon has sliced a path across the sea;
this sea that is both friend and enemy.*

The ocean is a picture, a soft and silken hue with stars the size of daisies reflected in the blue

Letters To The Editor

Editor
The Pine Cone
Carmel, California

Dear Sir:

As the newspaper of record of my cherished home town, The Pine Cone will, I hope, share my wish to stay the tide of historical garbling perpetrated by outside troublemakers, by which I mean newcomers who arrived after I left in 1936.

The instance at hand is a postcard that I have infuriated myself by purchasing during numerous visits to Carmel over the past decade, the most recent last month, when I found the offensive item more prominently displayed than ever on every rack in town. Its picture side reproduces a color photograph of a house on Sixth just above Torres which, as a story and designer's rendering that The Pine Cone ran in its issue of 28 October 1927 attests, was the creation of my father, Grant Wallace, who had been among the founders of Carmel as an artists' and writers' asylum more than two decades earlier, and who, to his credit, declined burden of a quaint name ("... this house... might well belong to the king of Gnomes, or it might even be the candy house in Hanzel and Gretel. But Grant Wallace tells us it is none of these."). It is not the postcard's picture that makes trouble, however, it is rather the picture's identification on the card's flip-side: "THE DOLL HOUSE... This unusually picturesque and quaint house styling, known as Comstock-style, is popular for little shops, homes and restaurants in Carmel-by-the-sea." Hugh Comstock, who did have among his famous works an item called the Doll House, must be whirling in his grave, and perhaps my father too, and maybe even Henrik Ibsen, as I wrote to the postcard's distributors when I first saw their gaffe; but they have never responded. The fact remains that the house depicted is Carmel's only specifically anti-Comstock-style house. Hugh Comstock, who lived across the street, designed houses conspicuous for their jagged, off-angled rooflines, influenced perhaps by the Brothers Grimm and certain German Expressionistic stage designs of the early 'twenties; whereas the outstanding characteristic of my father's cottage was a roofline everywhere undulous, without angles. Father was influenced by fogbanks, maybe, or Sarah Bernhardt or melted cheese sandwiches, or perhaps by the sheer joyful contrariety to Hugh's style that any artist would understand as its own peculiar sort of tribute.

However, the postcard struck me as merely ignorant, not dangerous, until my latest visit to Carmel, when I perceived that its evil influence had prompted the cottage's current owners, however they may be, not only to accept but to compound the shameful folly of the postcard industry. They have put up a sign out front that reads "Ye Olde Doll House." Now come on! I've already granted that the house is in fact awfully damn quaint, but so were all the 'twenties; think of Cal Coolidge. A sign reading "Ye Olde Quainte House, Retaining Elements Dating Back to 1927" (other elements have since been added), I wouldn't mind. But hard core quaintness, quite apart from the fact that it is pinned to the wrong house and the wrong style in the first place, defines the line where the community had better make a stand.

I look to the Pine Cone to fulfil its historic obligations to expose this scandal before Creeping Disneylandism takes over altogether.

Yours faithfully,
Kevin Wallace
Any Comments, Readers?
Ye Olde Ed.

Editor,
The Carmel Pine Cone
Sir:

May I tender you and your new publishers, my hearty congratulations on your auspicious advent in our community in sounding an early note of patriotism as evidenced in your note as to "CONSTITUTION DAY" on Page 3 of the Sep. 11th issue?

May indeed, its patriotic ring bring out the flag of every lover of his Country in Carmel on the 17th.

I would also add if I might, that hopefully this patriotic piece portends the return of it's author, Col. De Camp, to your comment columns with his always thoughtful and pertinent contributions.

Many of us so pleasantly

Bell Telephone Seal Will Have New, Brighter Look

A new Bell seal and bright new colors for telephone trucks and cars are being introduced by Pacific Telephone.

The new version of the Bell seal, a Bell System trademark since 1889, is simplified and modernized. It's still a bell in a circle. But the words "Bell System" have been removed, and the design made clearer and bolder.

Blue and ochre stripes will highlight the color changes for Pacific Telephone trucks and other vehicles. Instead of the present dark green, trucks will be two-tone — white on top, gray-green on the bottom. The stripes will separate the two halves.

Don Boston, Carmel manager, said: We are one of the most advanced communications organizations in the world, but we didn't think we looked like it. We needed to eliminate visual clutter.

"We believe this new graphics approach has the crisp, contemporary look which is a more accurate reflection of today's communications business."

The first telephone trucks in the new colors are expected to be received from the factory and put on the road about mid-November. The changeover for the entire Pacific Telephone fleet of 16,700 trucks, vans, cars and other vehicles will take place gradually over the next five years.

The new Bell seal will start appearing on Pacific Telephone advertisements immediately, and television spots in September. It will appear on stationery, company publications, phone bills, and similar material when present inventories are used up.

Safety hats for telephone linemen and construction crews will be replaced by new ones as present inventories are depleted. The new safety hats bear the new seal with short blue and ochre stripes beneath it. Designs on new company buildings, signs, flags and similar places will include the new seal in the future.

Heart Attack Aid Available

Heart Associations are often asked "What can I do to help someone who seems to be having a heart attack?"

The answer has been printed by the association on a convenient wallet card and is available without charge to anyone who wishes it.

On one side of the card are do's and don'ts for what to do in case of a heart attack.

On the opposite side is a description of emergency measures for heart-lung resuscitation — how to do mouth-to-mouth breathing and, following training, how to conduct closed-chest heart compression.

For your copy of these life-saving instructions, write to the Central Mission Trails Heart Association, 541-A South Main Street, Salinas, 93901.

Mission Paintings Exhibition At Carmel Art Museum Will Run Through September

California Mission Paintings, an exhibition of 21 paintings and 20 sketches by Edwin Deakin, opened Sep. 2, at the Carmel Museum of Art. The collection is sponsored for touring throughout the State by the California Arts Commission.

The paintings and sketches are on loan from the Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History, where they are part of the Museum's permanent exhibit on California and the Westward Movement.

Painted during the late 1870s and later, the series depicts each of the 21 Franciscan missions of California. These missions stretched 650 miles along the California coast, from San Diego to Sonoma and were a major force in the Hispanic influence of the State. Sixteen of the original 21 missions have been partially or completely restored and may still be seen today.

Edwin Deakin, who was born in England but came to the United States as a young man, painted the missions with precise but delicate attention to architectural detail. In almost every scene, the setting and mood of the countryside surrounding the mission is captured in strong, rich colors suggestive of the pioneering vigor of the men who built the missions and the towns which later grew around them.

California Mission Paintings by Edwin Deakin (1838-1923) will be on view at the Carmel Museum of Art, Dolores at 7th in Carmel, Sep. 2 to Sep. 30. Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday.

SAN JOSE — The 14th Mission was founded on June 11, 1797, some 15 miles north of San Jose, California's first civilian pueblo. The new church, completed in 1809, was destroyed by the 1868 earthquake, and now only a portion of the old monastery remains, containing a few momentos of the mission. This painting of the Mission San Jose is one of the 21 paintings and 20 sketches by Edwin Deakin of the California Missions on exhibition the month of September at the Carmel Museum of Art in Carmel. Photographs courtesy of History Division, Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History.

RESTORED — San Juan Bautista, the 15th mission, was founded on June 24, 1797. As they did in the case of nearly every mission, the Franciscan friars proved their genius for choosing an exceptional site in an area known to the Indians as Popeloutchom, and later known as San Benito. The present church, of adobe and brick, was built 1803-1812. It is cruciform as a result of the blocking of the side aisles. The interesting reredos in the church were decorated by Thomas Doak, first American resident of California.

Photography Show At Sunset

The Friends of Photography will present a one-man show of photographs by Liliane De Cock, opening Sep. 26 and running through Nov. 2 at the Friends Gallery in Sunset Center, San Carlos at 9th in Carmel.

Miss DeCock arrived in the United States in 1960 from her native Belgium. She was born in Antwerp in 1939 and attended a number of schools including the Academy of Arts at Antwerp.

Her show at the Friends of Photography Gallery during the month of September is called "A Rural Landscape" and will include photographs taken in Pennsylvania, Maryland, New York, New Mexico, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, and California.

Planning Commission To Consider 'Uniform' Law

By GUNNAR NORBERG

Comments on a Carmel tradition and views expressed in a letter from the Del Monte Properties Company highlighted last week's meeting of the Carmel Planning Commission.

The comments came as the Commission was considering a new regulation — in ordinance form — which was to define uniform standards of driveway access to private homesites. Perhaps it was the word "uniform" which stimulated the comments of Commissioner Fred Keeble who found the idea of "regularity" not only to driveway approaches to homes, but in the concept of "official grades" in connection with the residential streets themselves, to be actually out of keeping with what Carmel — for a great many years — had felt its proper views in such matters to have been — that streets should wander irregularly from any here to any there. That they should turn aside to leave room for trees that may have found firm roots in those streets. That the City should not try to impose uniformity either on the contours or elevations of streets or by compelling driveways to meet what were called "official street grades" which might actually be much lower or much higher than the actual meandering streets themselves were.

Commissioner Olof Dahlstrand found the point of view which Commissioner Keeble had enunciated to be refreshing and to be in accord with his own views about the charm and the purpose of Carmel in a world which, increasingly, compels more and more uniformity.

Keeble and Dahlstrand, both architects, were designated a committee to deal with the City Council about the street and driveway views of the Commission.

The letter from the Del Monte Properties Company's attorney, Ralph Thompson, gave the commission an assurance which it found hopeful. The letter concerned a matter upon which the Carmel Commission had taken a public stand before the County Planning Commission. The text of the letter said, in part:

"Recently, following an announced hotel use in the Moss Beach area adjacent to Pacific Grove, we are informed you directed a letter of disapproval to the County Planning Commission. This letter is to assure you that the Company welcomes your interest, and that in the future no development plan for any major or significant portion of Del Monte's property will be processed without being first submitted to your Commission, as well as to others in the area..."

The reference in the Del Monte letter concerned a proposal by Del Monte to establish a site for a possible high-rise hotel in the sand dune area near the Asilomar Conference Grounds in Pacific Grove. A long hearing on the hotel proposal before the County Planning Commission last month, was scheduled to resume yesterday (Sep. 24), but it is the Pine Cone's understanding that Del Monte has withdrawn the hotel request.

Audubon Films Start In PG

The first in the 5-part series of Audubon Wildlife Films will be presented on Saturday evening, Oct. 4 at the Pacific Grove Junior High School Auditorium at 8:00 p.m.

Karl H. Maslowski, photographer, naturalist and writer, will present "A Naturalist Afield," which is the title of a weekly nature column that he has maintained in the Cincinnati Enquirer for 30 years.

The film will show an array of birds and mammals including Evening grosbeaks, White-winged crossbills, Pileated woodpeckers, young red foxes, grey squirrels and many others. Time-lapse photography will show the opening of spring flowers and leaves. The viewer will visit the nests of a Red-tailed Hawk, a Bald Eagle, and a Ruby-throated Hummingbird.

The Audubon Wildlife Film Series is sponsored by the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History. Tickets will be available at the door. Admission is $1.25 for adults and .50 cents for students and active military. Season tickets are also available. Phone 372-4212 for additional information.

OBITUARY

Word has come of the death of George Stebbins, 33, a son of Mrs. Margaret C. Stebbins of Carmel. He was employed as a counselor in Los Angeles after graduating from Reed College and receiving his MA in psychology at Sacramento State. He attended Carmel schools during his early years. He is survived also by his father, Dr. Ledyard Stebbins of UC at Davis, a sister, Mrs. Edith Mahas of Davis, and a brother, Robert Stebbins of East Lansing, Michigan.

"S.S. Manhattan" Goes To Arctic

The National Oceanography Association commented that in mid-July the largest American commercial ship, the "S.S. Manhattan," began a trip through the Arctic to determine if year-round shipping can connect the recently discovered northern Alaskan oil fields with East Coast ports. The "S.S. Manhattan" has been refitted with a new type icebreaking bow and now weighs 151,500 tons. Total cost of the project is $34 million.

New Big Tree Grove Given

Realizing a dream dating back to the 1920s, members of Hoo-Hoo International, the Fraternal Order of Lumbermen, dedicated a 10-acre grove of Coast Redwoods (Sequoia sempervirens) at Prairie Creek Redwoods State Park in a noon ceremony Saturday, Sep. 13.

This primeval grove of redwoods is located a short distance from U.S. 101 in the northeast section of Prairie Creek. Funds to establish the grove were contributed by members of Hoo-Hoo International through the Save-the-Redwoods League in San Francisco. Private contributions to the League are usually matched by the State of California.

Larry Owen of Lafayette, Calif., chairman of the Hoo-Hoo Memorial Committee, said "the grove honors the late Charles D. Lemaster for his untiring efforts toward fraternalism in the forest industry. Until his death in 1967, he served the Fraternity with distinction. Local members of the Order expressed interest in such a memorial as early as 1922, and the establishment of this grove represents the fulfillment of a long range objective by the Fraternity."

Following the dedication and unveiling of a bronze plaque honoring Mr. Lemaster, members of the party held a picnic luncheon. They then visited the grove where the plaque will later be installed.

Punt, Pass, Kick

The annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition, which has been called America's top sports contest for boys, is underway with registrations open at western Ford dealerships through Oct. 10.

More than 1,100,000 boys between the ages of eight and 13 are expected to participate this year. Co-sponsored by the Ford Division of Ford Motor Company and the teams of the National Football League, PP&K has attracted more than five million participants since the first national contest in 1961. Last year alone, more than 1,000,000 youngsters took to the field to test their mastery of the three basic football skills.

The first round of competition at the local level will be held the weekend of Oct. 11-12. Second- and third-level contests will follow on succeeding weekends. Area and NFL divisional competitions will be held in November and December, with divisional winners scheduled to vie for the national championships in each age group at the NFL playoff at the Orange Bowl in Miami, Fla., Jan. 3, 1970.

PP&K participants compete against boys their own age. Any boy becomes eligible to compete by registering at his local Ford dealer's showroom. There is no entry fee, no special equipment is required, and participation does not impair a boy's amateur standing. No bodily contact is involved.

Can-Am Comes To Laguna Seca

Can anyone catch the McLaren's?

That's the answer an expected 35,000 motor sports enthusiasts will be seeking Oct. 10-12 when the million dollar Canadian-American Challenge Cup series makes its West Coast debut at Monterey's famed Laguna Seca Raceway.

Winner of all six races to date in the 1969 series — their latest victory coming recently at Bridgehampton, N.Y. — the McLaren Racing Team of Bruce McLaren and Denis Hulme has made the lucrative Can-Am circuit thei;personal hunting grounds.

But a lot of crack poachers are invading their territory with a new array of weapons that just might produce another upset over Laguna Seca's tight 1.9 mile track where, then relatively unknown, John Cannon pulled off one of the big upsets of last year's series.

Sloshing through the rain last October, rain which everyone hopes will be missing this year, Cannon temporarily derailed the McLaren victory train with one of the most thrilling victories in Can-Am history.

Expected to muscle in on McLaren's and Hulme's game are the likes of 1966 Can-Am champ John Surtees in Jim Hall's latest Chaparral-Chevy, Jo Siffert in a big Porsche 917, Chris Amon in a V-12 Ferrari and Indy-500 winner Mario Andretti in a Ford-powered Group Seven machine.

Combining two of racing's biggest assets — money, a million dollars worth, and almost no limitations on cars which result in the fastest machines on any track — the Can-Am has grown into one of the most popular racing series in the world.

Next race on the 11-race schedule is Sep. 28 at Michigan International Speedway.

For additional race or ticket information, please call 372-1516.

In telling of the excellent 10% cash spendable, no management, investment we have now, we have neglected to tell you that the funds you can invest may be the equity in the present property you hold.

An exchange may move your equity into 10% tax-sheltered tax flow. Knowing how is the key. We have the knowledge and experience to keep your investment growing with minimum taxes. Let's discuss the possibilities of expansion with a completely computerized analysis of your property. Call to arrange an appointment.

Carmel Valley Open House

SUNDAY 10 TO 4

Custom-built 4-bedroom home with family room and den, 3 baths - master bath has sunken tub - exceptionally appointed kitchen, special walk-in cooler that can accommodate several large game animals, intercom. Other extra features for all the family's comfort - corral and tack house for two horses, near golf course and racquet club, plumbed for swimming pool.

Turn right on La Canada or Brookdale Drive, and go to west end of Brookdale, last house on the right. It's expensive but worth every penny of the asking price.

JUST RIGHT FOR TWO

On Sunny Hatton Fields Mesa is a cozy home for a couple or a single person. There are two bedrooms, a paneled living room and dining ell in addition to an efficient kitchen and bath. But the house is small and very easy to care for, with carpeting, fresh paint and a delightful patio which accommodates the gardening urge. You can forget the rest if you want to, but the yard is large if you wish to use it including a tool house or shop. The best we know of at $31,500, and we'll gladly try an offer.

CLOSE TO THE POINT AND BEACH

We have a heart warming home which we would like to show you. Its 2-bedroom, 2-bath plan is excellent, the kitchen is modern and all appliances included. The paneled living room and dining area look out onto a protected patio and the Valley hills. In spotless condition and done in fine taste for only $42,500!

OCEAN AVENUE PROFESSIONAL SPACE FOR LEASE

Second floor location includes 2 rooms plus shared reception room at $200 a month.

Enos Fouratt's Specials

WHY NOT ENJOY THE SUNSHINE, OAKS, VIEW AND NATURE'S QUIET while you can still enjoy doing a little flower gardening, riding a horse if you wish, or just plain old walking a dog around the loop road. Don't let these pleasures of life pass you by - you already know that time passes more rapidly as you grow older. COME OUT RIGHT NOW and look at our COMSTOCK-built 3000-square-foot-plus home that is located and oriented to give you the above pleasures in one of the most delightful areas in the Valley - LA RANCHERIA. The owners are moving to Hawaii. Take advantage of this rare opportunity to acquire an undervalued home for $69,750.

IF YOU PREFER A CLOSER IN LOCATION, we have two homes which are ideal for a retired couple. Both are on cul du sac locations. Both are in top-notch condition.

The first is up in Carmel Knolls. It has a pleasant forest outlook from every room but still gets its fair share of sunshine. Consisting of three bedrooms, two baths, a completely modern kitchen and a minimum-maintenance yard, it is a fine value at $58,500.

The second is up on MARTIN ROAD in Hatton Fields. This means it has a panoramic view of Point Lobos and the Valley. It was designed and built for the present owners who are moving to the Park Lane. Consisting of two bedrooms, two baths, a den or third bedroom, it is priced at just a little more than twice the value of the site for a rapid sale. IT is as sound as the day it was built by the Hansen brothers and a real value at $55,000.

Report From RLS

George Wing

Four of last year's Junior class won a round of outstanding academic awards for superior achievement on their National Merit Scholarship Tests. David Haynes, Andrew Ehrlich and Alan Yates are semi-finalists. The fourth student, Henry Kaiser, elected to graduate early and is now studying at Harvard University. Of the 1300 Juniors in this state who attempted the examination last year, the four above from RLS achieved the coveted finalist status.

Last Saturday the RLS Pirates opened their soccer season, squelching Pescadero's unfounded hopes for victory. With goals by Hok Leung and Scott Bullen, RLS swept the field 2-0. Coach David Martula states that, with development, chances are excellent for another outstanding soccer season. In the 1968 season the Pirates were rated number 2 in the state.

Exhibited in the S.F.B. Morse Fine Arts Center is a collection of paintings by the talented California artist William Treadwell Giberson. Giberson is an alumnus of The Art Center School, Los Angeles. His paintings have been exhibited at the San Francisco Museum of Art, and in various other juried exhibitions on the Pacific Coast. For those interested, the exhibit is open for viewing every afternoon.

The school was honored at its Vesper service last Sunday by the presence of Fulton Freeman, President of the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies. Mr. Freeman was formerly the United States Ambassador to Mexico; retiring early this year. He spoke of the urgent Latin American situation.

Bay School

Mothers of the nursery school children contribute one morning each week and attend a Monday night class session, as a part of the Carmel Adult School. There are still vacancies at Bay School, and school officials will welcome any new enrollments.

For more information about enrollment, call 624-4397, 624-4472 or 624-8083.

POTPOURRI

A potpourri of nearly-new items, ranging from treasures, quality clothing, sports equipment and household goods is available at the Community Hospital Auxiliary's nearly-new sale at the MPVS Thrift Shop on Broadway in Seaside.

Hours are from 12 noon to 4 p.m. weekdays through Friday, Sep. 26.

Proceeds from the sale will benefit auxiliary funds for hospital projects.

According to Mrs. William Hohnemann, general chairman, persons interested in donation of used clothing and household items for resale may still contact her at 372-2462.

OBITUARY

Francis Clark Kilpatrick, 80, Carmel resident for seven years, died on Sep. 19. At the time of his retirement he was president of a San Francisco lumber company. He was past president of the California Redwood Association.

Kilpatrick is survived by his widow Dorothy, two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Bliss of Berkeley and Mrs. Frances Spaeth of Palo Alto, and four grandchildren.
